(E) END PROGRAM

When this display appears on the screen, the player must make a choice to continue. Following is a brief description of each choice.

BASIC GAME

This choice provides a basic "army blanket" introduction to craps. This is a short learning program to familiarize the player with the effect of various rolls. Anyone who does not know the basic rules of craps should play and master the Basic Game before proceeding to Casino Craps.

ALLEY CRAPS

This game for 2 to 8 players is a simulation of back-alley craps where everyone bets against the shooter. The rules for the shooter are the same as if he were betting the passline on a casino table.

RANDOM ROLLS

This section is useful for the systems player because it allows him/her to roll the dice for a selected number of times and get a summary of rolls. The summary includes the occurrence of each number and can be printed.

DEFINITIONS

With this choice the player is acquainted with the wide variety of bets available on a casino craps table. This also difines terms used in a craps game, such as "point", odds, etc. Each entry may be printed for reference during play. Rules of various casinos and examples of their tables are available.

CASINO CRAPS

This is a simulation of the game of craps as one would play in a casino. The player chooses gambling area, purchases chips, makes bet choices, rolls the dice, talks with the pitboss, and cashes in, just as he/she would in a real casino.

END PROGRA,

Ends the program.

CASINO CRAPS INFORMATION

1. Casino Craps offers several choices of location in which to play. The rules of each area are somewhat different. The rules used by the computer are those that are most commonly used in that specific area.

2. The computer will automatically check the legality of each bet. If the bet is illegal or the wrong multiple, it will inform the player. All bets and multiples are explained in the "Definitions" section of this program.

3. If it is legal to remove a bet or to change a bet amount, you may remake the bet, using 0 to remove the bet and replace the amount in the bankroll. Type in the new amount if you wish to change the amount bet.

4. If you have a come bet and first answered no to the question of whether you would like the odds, you can later take the odds or change the odds amount on that bet. To do so, press (0) in the bet choices.

5. If you have a Passline or Don't Pass bet on the table, after establishing the point you will be able to take the odds on these bets by pressing (0) in the bet choices.

GOOD LUCK!
